NECA welcomes new ABCC Commissioner

The National Electrical and Communications Association (NECA) welcomes the appointment of new Australian Building and Construction (ABCC) Commissioner, Stephen McBurney who commences a five-year term from 6 February 2018.

The role of the ABCC is critical for the electrical contracting sector. NECA has been a strong and long-term advocate for the commission's return, given the work it carries out to uphold the rule of law, reduce industrial disputes, the delivery of safe and transparent workplaces and ultimately, enhanced productivity across the sector.
