

COVID-19

Information overload?

Join us in Toolbox today!

An initiative of the TBCITB to connect local builders online in an informal setting.

Hosted by Allan Jeffrey, a familiar face in the local industry, these sessions are designed to keep your business connected with others at this challenging time.

We've pulled together key information about COVID-19 and the supports available to the Tasmanian building and construction industry, and can help you cut through to the information, people, paperwork and news you need now.

What will you need? An internet connection on your smartphone, iPad or computer and about an hour of free time.

When will Toolbox be running? Sessions are being held during and after working hours so you can find the time to suit your busy schedule best.

How do you join a session? Click HERE to choose a time and register.

New to working online? Join the club! It's easy to participate. You'll be sent an email with a link to click and.... you're up and running!

Questions about Toolbox? For more information you can email, call or text Allan directly on 0418 146 634 jeffreyhr@bigpond.com