NECA announces 2019 electrotechnology conference

As the negotiations between NECA and MEA have now ceased, NECA, the peak body for the Australian electrotechnology industry, has pleasure in announcing that the 2019 NECA National Conference will be held on the beautiful Hamilton Island from 19-22 July 2019.

The NECA National Conference will be bigger and better than ever before with a range of top business speakers providing insights to help members operate and manage their businesses more effectively

All delegates will enjoy NECA's famous activities and partners programs that include pristine white beaches, world class food and wine, golf, sailing, spectacular views of the Whitsunday waters and a kaleidoscope of coral and marine life.

NECA, the peak industry association continues to build on a rich history of working with our Members, Business Partners and the Electrical Industry to provide all attendees the best possible experience throughout the Hamilton Island conference.

The NECA 2019 National Conference will be the top event for the electrotechnology sector in 2019 and not to be missed, so save the date.

More information and booking details will be sent to NECA members soon.
